1

We have developed ROTO MOLD plants to create premium products

2

This will change the entire picture of Playground equipment industries

3

Looking at present scenario, India is importing equipment from China but this will completely curtail our dependence from china, hence leaving us independent to produce our own Indian equipment.

Types of Our Plants

-  Fabrication plant
-  Fibre in house plant
-  Powder coating plants for colour

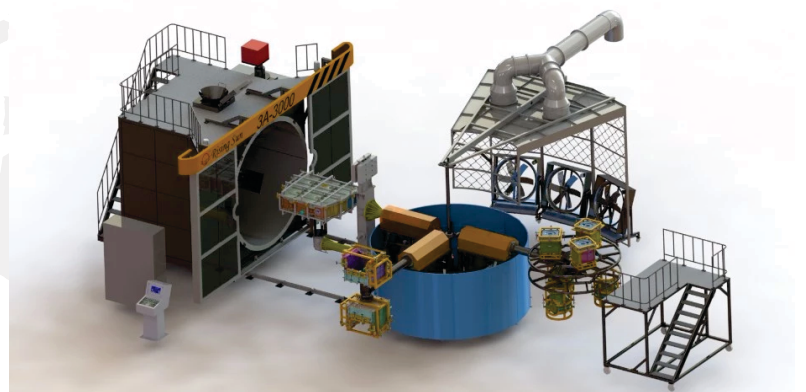

Description of the plants we have developed

-  We gradually developed all kinds of plants to operate every item, no matter how many operations we do there, until we make a complete finish product by bringing raw material to whatever we need in our line. First of all, if there is fabrication in our product, then we have an inhouse fabrication plant in which we do simple welding i.e. electric welding as well as cloud welding so that the quality of the product is very good.
-  First of all, if there is fabrication in our product, then we have an inhouse fabrication plant in which we do simple welding i.e. electric welding as well as cloud welding so that the quality of the product is very good.

There is another machine bending machine that we have brought in our plant. After welding of any item it is scraped from all over the place & thoroughly scrapped off of any unevenness to ensure that the children & parents enjoy it without any worry. What is currently going on inside India is that 90% of the people in India today sell by FRP i.e. Fiber re-inforced plastic and people use the same thing. In many other countries of the world as per our research, other countries are using roto moulding technology products, while India is still relying on fiber products. With this in mind, we have started a roto mould plant in India in Gujarat at Ahmedabad and within the next few years we will gradually start to give roto moulded products to the people. We will surely try to change the direction of this industry in our country. In addition to this, powder coating is applied on each item rather than any plain paint, we also have an inhouse plant for powder coating for the quality of the item and its longevity. We also have an in-house facility to check the quality of the items we manufacture in the plant.
